'Linguistics Today'

August 3, 1954

Professor U. Weinreich,
401 Philosophy Hall,
Dpt. of General and Comparative Linguistics,
Columbia University, New York 27, N.Y. (U.S.A.).

Dear Professor Weinreich,

Thank you very much for your kind letter of July 17, and for the trouble you have taken to resolve my problem. I am sorry that the MS was too long (I think I must have misunderstood what Martinet wrote to me about the space at my disposal), and I am very grateful indeed to you and to Martinet that you are able to accept it as it stands. I am writing to Martinet at the same time.

I realize that in my hurry I forgot to enclose, with my MS, a letter to you, and I hope you will forgive me this faux-pas on my part.

I shall expect the galley proofs and I shall not fail to return them by air as soon as possible.

I am glad to know that I shall receive 100 reprints gratis.

I beg you to understand that I am extremely grateful for the patience with which you have been waiting for my MS, and I am sorry that it took such a time to finish it. I am very glad to know that it will eventually appear, - in spite of my own sabotage!

Kindest regards to you and your family from us,

Yours sincerely,

Louis Hjelmslev
