

Forfatter: Munch-Petersen, Gustaf

Titel: early morning (to carmelo)

Citation: Munch-Petersen, Gustaf: "early morning (to carmelo)", i Munch-Petersen, Gustaf: Samlede skrifter, Borgen, 1988. Onlineudgave fra Arkiv for Dansk Litteratur: <https://tekster.kb.dk/text/adl-texts-munp1-shoot-workid78499.pdf> (tilgået 13. marts 2024)

Anvendt udgave: Samlede skrifter ## early morning (to carmelo)

my infinite world is in the closed egg of my will towards god - every finished piece of joy and clean bitterness is put aside on the deep bottom of the sacred eye - always has god's heat been over me and shall always be till perfection breaks through the vast forest of my world - his face is of no use for my timefilling work - at some close or approaching time the egg of my world will open, my work shall stop -,

and eternal repeating of that single act of god,
which is me,
shall be the sign that my will may go -